

THE AMENDED CLAIMS

- 1 1. (currently amended) A swimsuit comprising:
- 2 (a) a loop adapted to at least partially encircle a human waist;
- 3 (b) a fastening device which couples a first part of a body of the swimsuit to a second part of
- 4 the swimsuit body, the first and second parts not being on the loop; and
- 5 (c) a storage compartment on the swimsuit body which compactly stows the body;
- 6 wherein the loop is positioned relative to the swimsuit body so that when said fastening device is
- 7 engaged, the swimsuit may be worn by a human.
- 8
- 1 2. (previously presented) The swimsuit of claim 1 wherein said loop is adapted to completely
- 2 encircle said human waist.
- 3
- 1 3. (original) The swimsuit of claim 1 wherein said loop is selected from the group consisting of (i) a
- 2 decorative chain, and, (ii) a tubular member.
- 3
- 1 4. (previously presented) The swimsuit of claim 1 wherein the loop comprises a chain made of a
- 2 material resistant to corrosion.
- 3
- 1 5. (currently amended) A method of removing a swimsuit separable at at least one point by a
- 2 fastening device while leaving it attached to a human body, comprising:
- 3 (a) decoupling at least one fastening device on a body of the swimsuit and separating a first
- 4 part of the body of the swimsuit from a second part of the body of the swimsuit, the first
- 5 and second parts not being on the loop;
- 6 (b) compacting the body of the swimsuit into a small space;
- 7 (c) storing the compacted body of the swimsuit using at least one storage
- 8 compartment on the body of the swimsuit; and
- 9 (d) using a loop at least partially encircling the human body for supporting the
- 10 swimsuit on the human body.

11

1 6. (original) The method of claim 5 wherein the storing of the compacted body of the swimsuit using
2 the at least one storage compartment is performed through an opening at an end of the at least one
3 storage compartment.

4

1 7. (original) The method of claim 5 wherein the at least one storage compartment comprises two
2 storage compartments.

3

1 8. canceled

2

1 9. canceled

2

1 10. canceled.

2

1 11. (currently amended) A swimsuit comprising:

2 (a) a loop adapted to at least partially encircle a human waist;

3 (b) a body having a front end and a rear end, the front end having a width greater than the
4 rear end;

5 (c) a single fastener for which detachably coupling couples the rear end of the body to said
6 loop; and

7 (d) a storage compartment on the front of the swimsuit for compactly stowing the body;
8 wherein the loop is positioned relative to the swimsuit body so that when said
9 fastener is attached, the swimsuit may be worn by a human.

10

1 12. (original) The swimsuit of claim 11 wherein said loop is adapted to completely encircle said
2 human waist.

3

1 13. (original) The swimsuit of claim 11 wherein said loop is selected from the group consisting of (i)
2 a decorative chain, and, (ii) a tubular member.

3

1 14. (previously presented) The swimsuit of claim 11 wherein the loop comprises a chain made of a
2 material resistant to corrosion.

3